Growing Up

Life gets so confusing
And hard to figure out,
We're growing up so fast
What's it all about?
Things are changing quickly,
Time is flying by;
We're becoming different persons
Sometimes we wonder why.
Sometimes it gets real scary
And we want to run away.
But we know things will fit together
Somehow, sometime, someday.

Homecoming Was Here . . .

Homecoming did not just consist of Friday night's game but many different activities to go along with it.

Homecoming Week began bright and early Monday with Toga Day; who could forget the lonely few who had the courage to dress up. Tuesday brought out all the Punks in the school for Punk Day. Wednesday the Nerds appeared. While Thursday, North Stafford was invaded by the Beach Bums. Thursday night the bonfire brought spirits to a roar for Friday's game. Friday the seniors were fortunate enough to be allowed to wear sunglasses while everyone else was blinded by orange and blue.

Starting the game with the first touchdown by halftime people were predicting the first victory of the season.

Once halftime came everyone's anticipation switched to who would be the King and Queen for 1984. Then the time came; The Queen, Tammy Burke, was announced first. But who could forget when her boyfriend Rich Howarth was announced King, and Tammy went into her hops on the football field. To end the night the Wolverines took their first victory of the season with a score of 29 to 20. The leading scorer was Brian Berryman.

Wrapping up Homecoming Week was Saturday's events. The Parade began at 9:00 that morning. The North Stafford had their own Olympics sponsored by the SCA after the parade with the seniors taking the Gold or first place. Saturday night SCA put on their annual Homecoming Dance.

SPIRIT WEEK

Every year before our homecoming game the SCA sponsors spirit week. This gives many people a chance to show their stuff. Monday was Toga day. Many were not dressed in Togas; but when Tuesday came, it was a different story. Many were decked out in punk. For some it was just another day, because they usually dressed like this. Wednesday brought nerd day. We sure had a lot of them that day. Thursday brought beach day. It seemed that everyone was ready to head for the beach. Some had shorts on; others wore sunglasses and hats. And let's not forget the cream on the noses. Last but not least there was blue and orange day in which most of the student body took place in.

Thanks to the great participation of the students our team roared on to a victory against James Wood.

What is a car? Do you really know what one is? Or are you one of those people who take advantage of a car to get from one place to another. There are a few who can really define what a car is. Billy DeCourcey is one of those people who can define a car. He takes a lot of pride in his car. He also takes care of his car unlike other people and it shows.

Maybe if you would pay more attention to your car your motor will be running the next day. Instead of being dead when you go to start it the next morning before school.

Payday

A lot of the students at North Stafford High School had jobs. These jobs added to their responsibility of school activities. After school most of the students headed straight for work, putting school behind them.

The most important thing that these students had that others did not was a weekly paycheck. This paycheck was helpful to their parents plus buying things for themselves.

The students at North Stafford High School who had jobs were very lucky. They got a taste of the real world and enjoyed it.

Keep your eyes on those fries!

The Fun Loving Students From Germany

We had a visit from the exchange students once again at North Stafford High School. This time the students came from Germany. They were here a short period of time, unlike last time.

They arrived in April of last school year and stayed only three weeks.

Many of the German students learned things from us as well as our learning from them.

Miss Giovannetti said, "It was successful as always; there will be German students here again next year, but not the same ones. The greatest of all is that some of our students will be visiting German students in Germany."

The Germans are here!!

Roll With The Changes

The students at North Stafford High School are changing with times. One way this is shown is the way people are wearing their hair.

The new wave has brought "Tails" in. These are bits of hair in the back of one's head longer than the rest. One student in our school who has this is Rich Orlando, a senior.

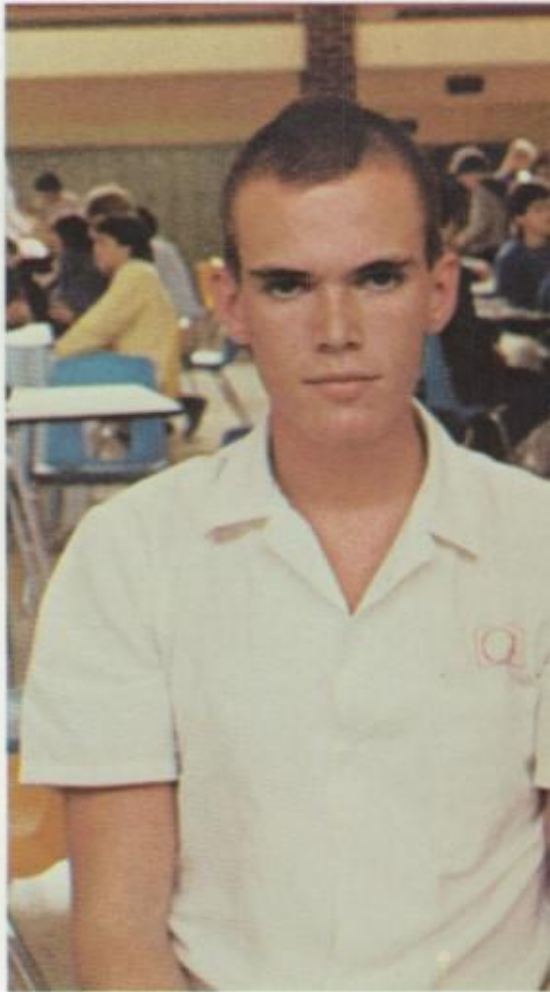

Another type of hairstyle that is popular is the flat top. Examples of this are Bill Casler, a sophomore, Chris Kerr, a junior, and John Ives, a senior. In this picture the three are doing their James Dean Impression.

Hair styles are one way in which the students at North Stafford stand out in their appearance but are united into one with their school spirit.

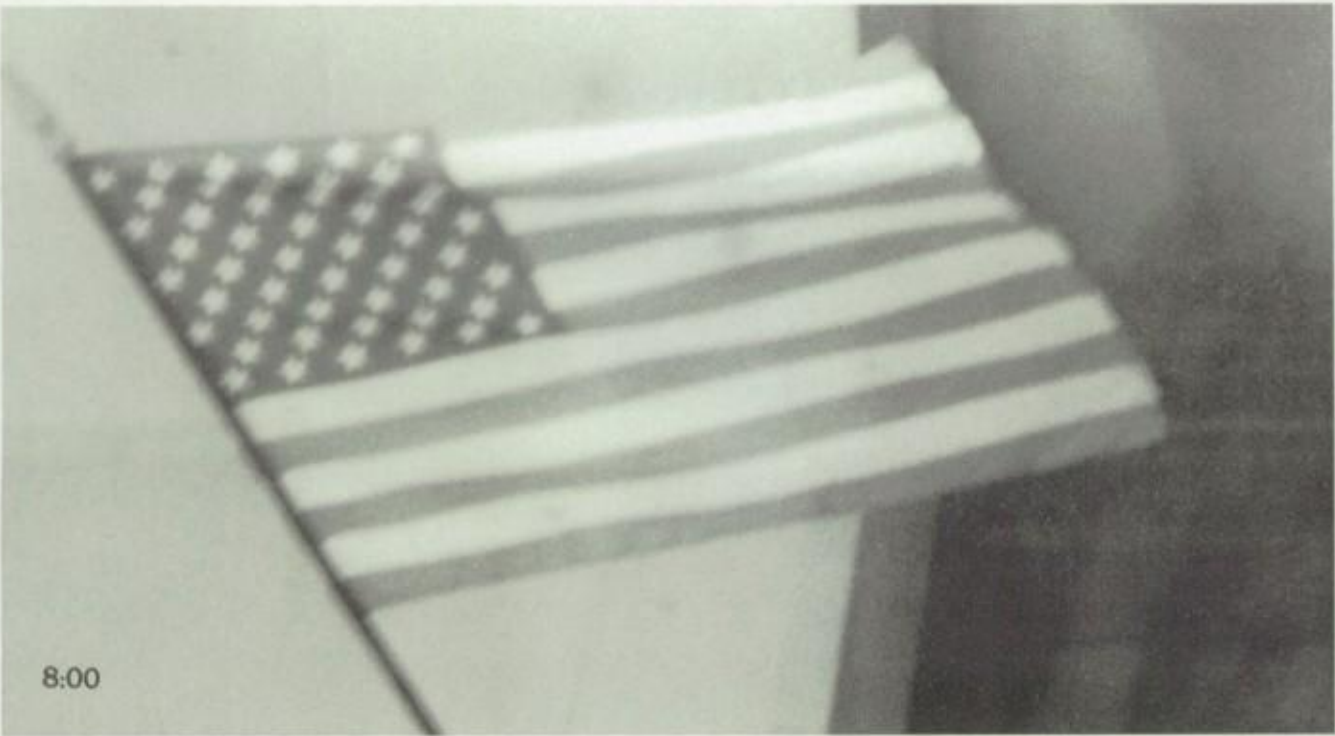

Mark Decourcey, a junior, has sported a "mohawk" haircut for a couple of years. Doris Milner, also a junior has this year started wearing a "spike" haircut.

Mike Watson, a senior, displays his individuality by wearing a "flock of seagull" hairdo.

Double Trouble

There were many sets of twins at North Stafford High School this year. There were both identical and fraternal twins. Even though there were more twins than usual, the student body never got tired of them. However, telling them apart was difficult. The ways in distinguishing between identical twins was by their different styles in clothes and hair. One of the most dominant features in distinguishing them apart was the different personalities each one possessed. All the twins interested the other students because deep down inside everyone wants a twin.

Shoes reflect a Person's Personality

This year there were many varieties in ways of dressing at North Stafford High School. One of these varieties was shoes. Shoes changed with the style of the clothing we wore. We experienced almost every type of shoe from the new wave look to the docksiders. Even the ordinary tennis shoe changed. The most common tennis shoe this year was the multi-colored ones. Obviously, a person's shoe expressed their personality. Nevertheless, the high heels prevailed when dressing up occurred.

In conclusion, the shoes this year were very unique. Yet, we look forward to the new styles that will WALK IN.

FRANKIE SAYS — RELAX

There are many times when we want to just throw everything up in the air and just relax for a while. Some people relax by sleeping, others by doing something they like. The teachers do their relaxing after a hard day at work by going to an exercise class. Many of the students relax with friends. Some just like to sit and talk; while others go out for relaxation. Many students and teachers are just relaxed by the school day being over.

Our Fabulous Foreigners

This year we also have a foreign exchange student from Denmark. Her name is Helle Nissen. Helle arrived in the United States on August 8, 1984. She resided at the home of Tammy Lauer. During our interview with Helle, she said that she liked North Stafford a lot. She said that there were many nice people here. Helle feels that the schools are better here. She feels that there was more discussion in the classroom and that a student could become closer to a teacher. Although Helle enjoyed North Stafford, she will still have three years of school left when she returns home. When asked if she would recommend being a foreign exchange student, her answer was yes. Helle feels that being a foreign exchange student enables a person to learn more things, experience more, and meet new people.

Helle's hobbies are jogging, volleyball, dancing and bike riding. While at North Stafford Helle was looking forward to try-outs for the drama play.

Another foreign exchange student this year was Jussi Ranki. Jussi is from Jowtseno, Finland. Jusso arrived in the United States on August 3, 1984. He was staying at the home of Teddy Schilling. Even though Jussi attended North Stafford for a full year, he will still have the same amount of schooling left when he returns. It will be as if this year didn't count.

Jussi stated that he enjoyed North Stafford, but that his school is much different. In his school he has 13 different subjects and his schooling hours vary every day. Furthermore, a person must have a certain average in order to even go to high school.

In Finland, Jussi enjoys social gatherings and wind surfing. He also likes to go to discos. While here, Jussi attended North Stafford's social gatherings and observed that they were not the same.

Since Jussi is used to traveling, he did not feel homesick at all. In fact, Jussi stated that he would like to come back someday.

This year at North Stafford High School, we had a foreign exchange student from West Germany. His name is Oliver Holtz.

In our interview with Oliver, he seemed to enjoy his stay at North Stafford; furthermore, he would recommend a person to go to another country as a foreign exchange student.

Even though Oliver completed one full year of school at North Stafford, this will not count in his schooling in West Germany. Oliver will still have his original two years to go when he returns to school. Oliver's school is much different than ours here in the United States. Oliver has fourteen classes instead of only five, and has much more work to be completed each day. His restrictions in school are not as strict as the ones in the States. Oliver says that there is not as many demands placed upon a student in West Germany.

Oliver found that the tests at North Stafford were easier than the ones in West Germany. Instead of letters for grades, Oliver receives number grades that are extremely hard to achieve.

Oliver was staying with the Bishop family. His hobbies here in the United States were basketball, tennis, skiing, and other sports as well. In West Germany Oliver liked to go to discos, which was one of the things he missed the most here.

Oliver enjoyed his stay in the United States which lasted from August 14 until July, and did not seem to be at all homesick.

A Year Ahead

This year, as in last year, we had eighth grade students come to North Stafford. They came in the morning to attend our first period class. These eighth graders came to North Stafford to get a head start on their foreign language classes.

These students left after first period in order to return to the middle school on time so that they may complete a full day of school there. Apparently, these students have set high goals for their education. In addition, these students also get a early look at what high school is really like. North Stafford High School wishes them luck in their up-coming high school years.

"BABES" GO TO NORTH STAFFORD

We're The First Class

The class of '85 had high hopes and dreams of being our first class to attend all four years at North Stafford High School. The seniors this year were very spirited and well-rounded individuals.

In addition to classes and maintaining the GPA, there were senior activities. Activities for the seniors included the Senior Dinner Dance, Christmas Dance, and the Senior Picnic, Baccalaureate, and finally graduation.

The entire senior class united in their enthusiasm towards graduation. Many wanted to head straight for college, but some wanted sometime to relax and just "hang out" awhile in between graduating and starting college.

The class officers for the senior class were the following: President, David Rodriguez; Vice President, John Cole; Secretary, Jackie Randall; Treasurer, Buffy Shreve; and Reporter, Lori Lombardi.

Everyone at North Stafford High School wishes the seniors the best of luck in whatever they wish to do with their life.

The answer is maybe and that's final.

The Junior Class

The class of '86 was a very spirited class. This year was very special for the juniors. Of all their achievements one of the most outstanding was their sponsorship of the junior-senior prom. The juniors sold flower bulbs and jewelry to raise the money. The theme of the prom was Purple Rain. It was held on May 4, 1985.

This was the year in which the juniors ordered their class rings and were now considered upper classmen. There appeared to be a feeling of excitement among the class of '86 for they knew that the next year they would be the head of the school — the seniors.

The class officers were: President, James Hoffman; Vice-president, Mark Carico; Secretary, Debbie Goins; Treasurer, Christopher Burt; Reporter, Kim Kurucz.

Sophomore Class

This was a year of involvement for the sophomore class at North Stafford. They went from "little freshmen" to "big sophomores".

For most sophomore classes in the past, it was just another year; but for this year's sophomore class it was filled with many hopes and lots of excitement.

In field hockey this year, we had some outstanding sophomores. One of those students was Lee Hoyle who was on the Varsity team. She was the leading scorer for the season with 33 goals. She was also named MVP at the fall awards banquet.

Many students looked forward to their 16th birthday, so that they could get their drivers license.

The class officers for the sophomore class were the following; President, James Martin; Vice-President, Ken Wood; Secretary, Melody Brown; Treasurer, David Giedzinski; and Reporter, Rebecca Stern.

Oh my God it's a spider!

Alright Shannon What are you up too?

Style is the only way to go.

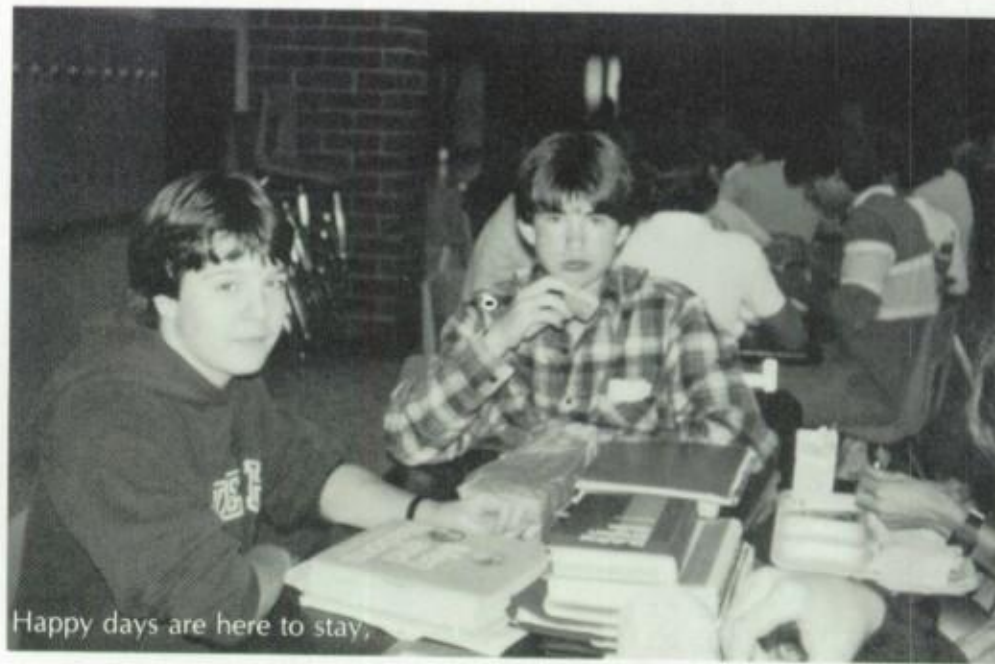

Could you show us to the nearest exit!

A New Beginning

The class of '88 had high hopes and big dreams of being the best freshman class that North Stafford has ever had. The first day the schedule was very frustrating, but once they acclimated themselves to the high school life, they had no problem. The first couple of weeks was like home away from home.

This was a year for new opportunities. There were many things in which to become involved. There were clubs to join and extracurricular activities like drama and band. Of course, there were many students who participated in sports. What seemed like a new beginning was, for most students, just that.

Happy days are here to stay,

CURRICULUM

“Top Honor For North Stafford”

North Stafford High School has been selected as one of six Virginia high schools nominated for the United States Department of Education's "model school" awards. Our nomination was based on a 15 page questionnaire and a visit from the Virginia Department of Education.

Such attributes of North Stafford's success were teacher effectiveness, administrative leadership and rewards and incentives for students. Also considered were characteristics of the school and its division. Composition of the student body, and economic composition of the families played an important role in this top honor.

Other things taken into account were tests results (S.R.A. and S.A.T. scores), attendance rates, teacher and program awards, and student acceptances into college and military.

A lot of pride is held between the staff and the principal upon receiving this recognition. When asked if he would have a special ceremony if North Stafford were chosen, Mr. White said, "Of course, we'd have a party then!"

Art

The interest in Art continued to grow each year. This was due to the amount of talent in students of all levels. Each piece of work that a student produced was individualized in their work which reflected their background, past training, creativity, and imagination. Their work was displayed in three art exhibits. Some individuals even sent their work to art exhibitions and contests.

A change this year in the curriculum was flex time class being added. This art class was for students that had six classes during the regular school day and wanted an extra course.

I'm soo confuse.

Mike Stivers works busily on an art project while Casey Lewis and Chris Mercer keep an eye on what's going on!

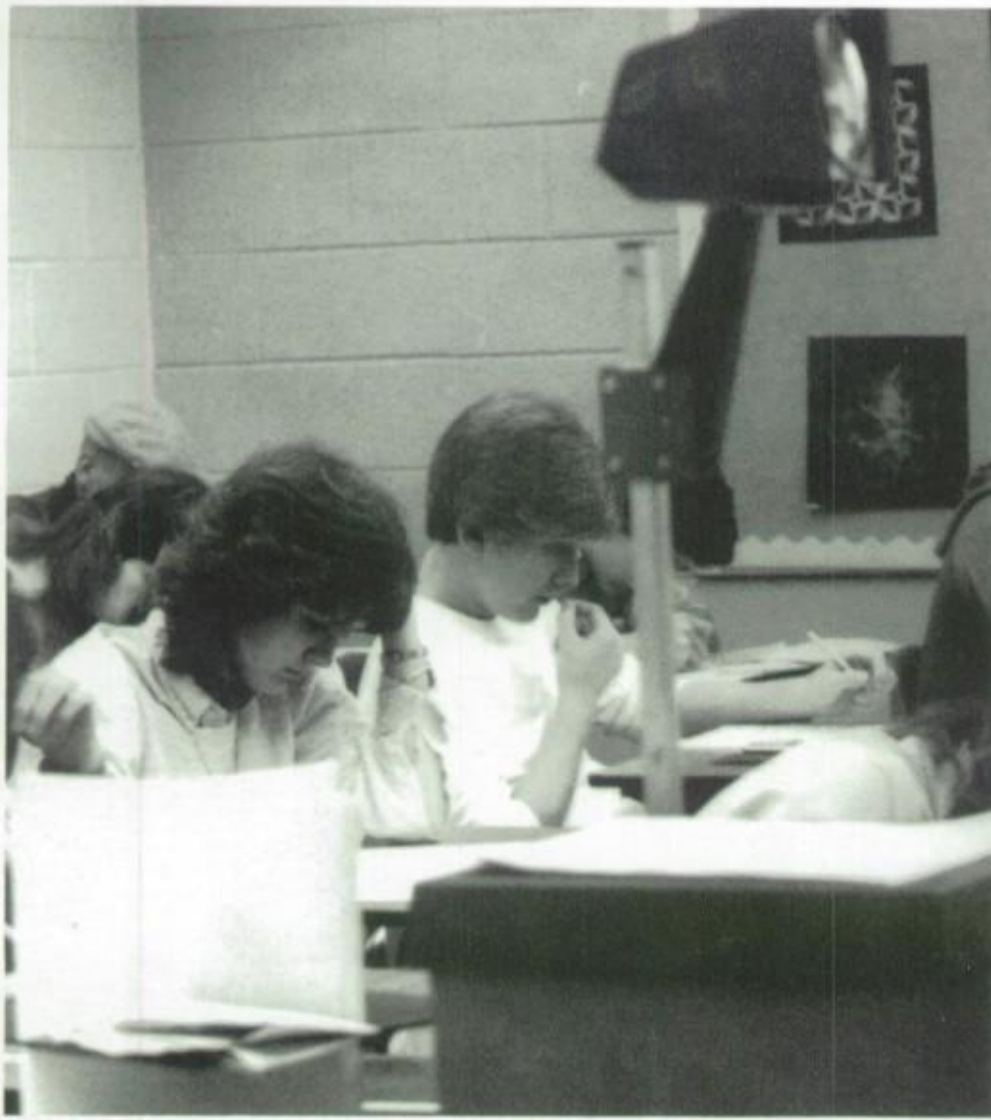

Sketching the stairs, Angie Lackey and Stephanie Gibbons work together on their art project.

Pasting a project together, Doris Milner gives her full concentration to her work.

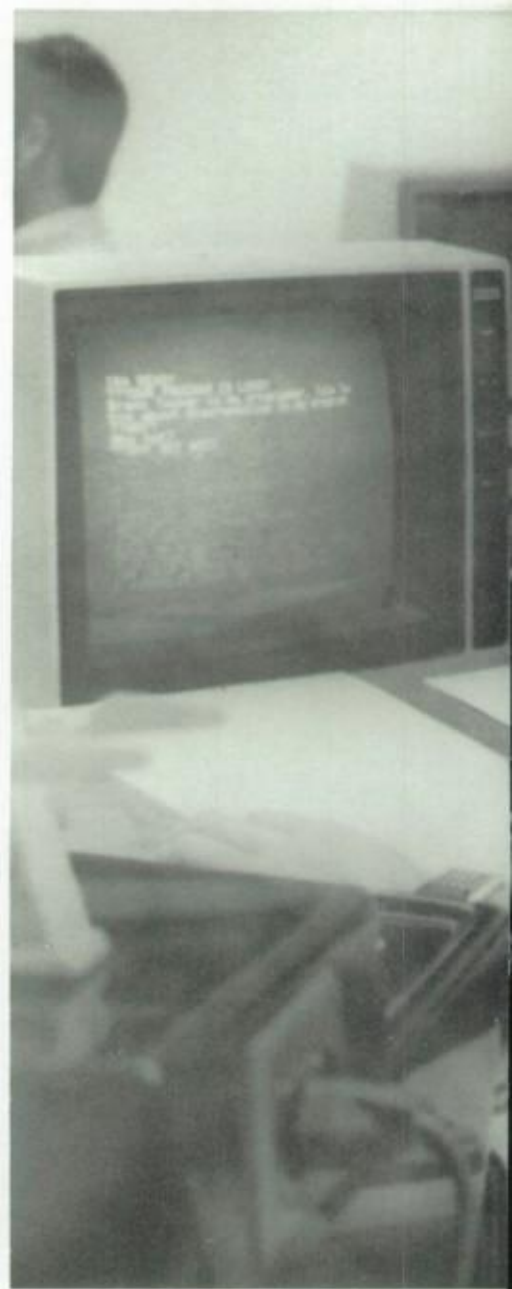

It take's a steady hand to make it hook right.

Now where am I?

Boy this is really hard.

Ha! man math is really cool. Now we're getting down to Business.

MATH

"Cooperating and working together" seemed to be the Math Department's answer to the increase in students this year. For the most part students did well. They were introduced to such things as: theorems in geometry; in depth studies of right triangles in trigonometry; and solving equations in Algebra I, II, and III. Students found that a lot of work, time, and effort had to be put into this subject. Most students found that even if the thirty minute rule wasn't applied through actual written homework that it was to their benefit to study.

An addition to the Math Department was a computer class.

Advanced Placement

This year the Advanced Placement classes consisted of History, English, and Math. The purpose of the A.P. system was to equip the students for the skills needed in college. The students were given two to three hours of homework each night and were given two to three papers a week. The students participating in the A.P.

system were very responsible and the classes that they had signed up for were considered to be hard courses. The A.P. classes discuss every subject in depth using charts graphs, trends and documents. Each subject is discussed to the fullest. In the A.P. History class, the students were required to read fourteen books.

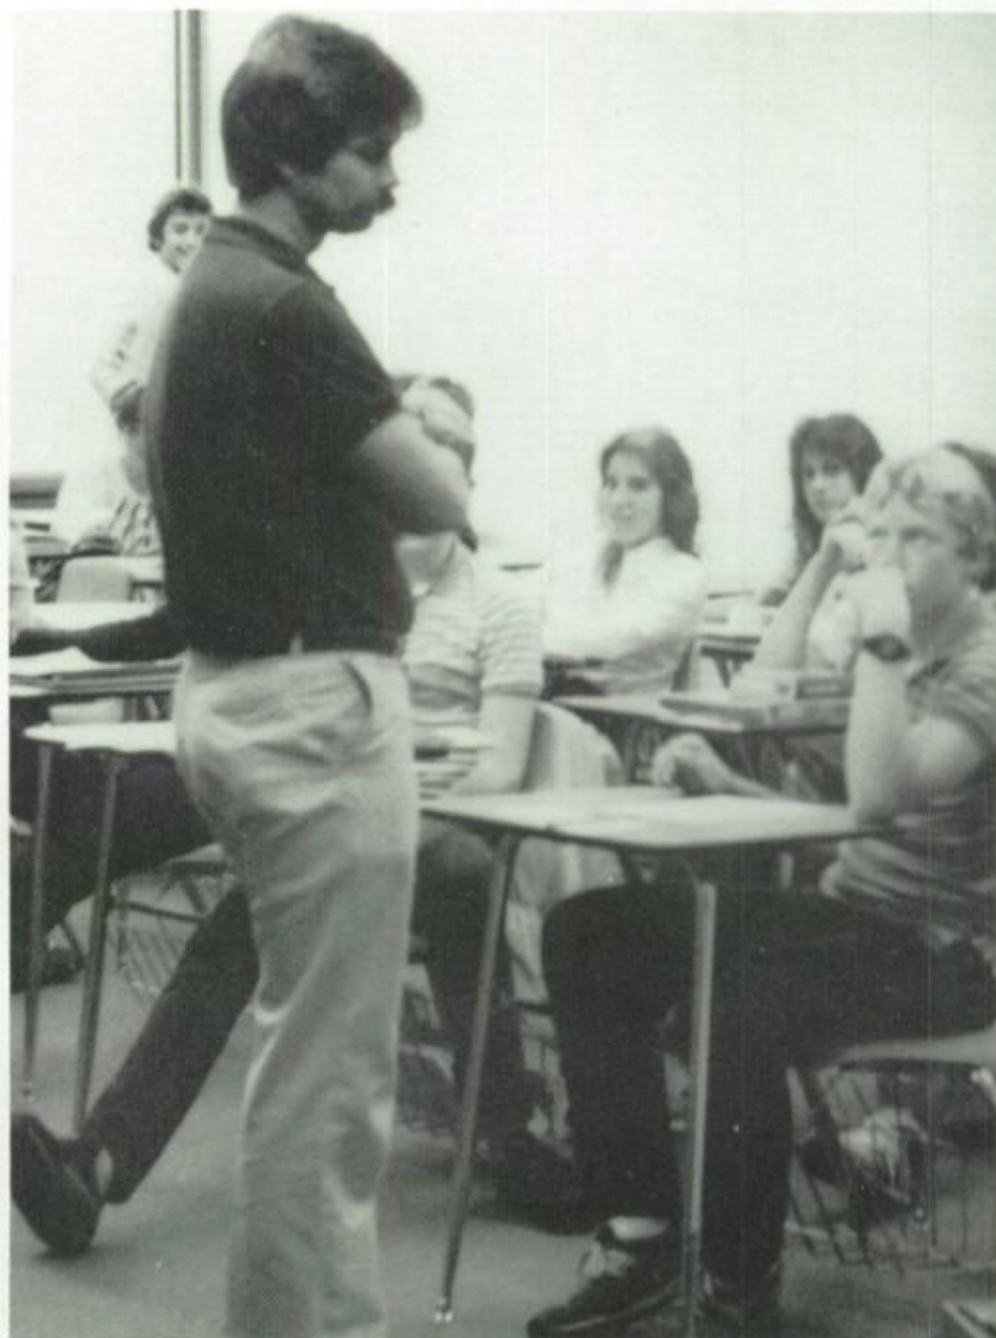

ENGLISH

The English Department, one of the finest departments in the school, with dedicated teachers, had to change to the State Board standards. One of the new requirements is to give at least a half-an-hour of homework each night. This causes much work for the teachers due to the student/teacher ratio. This past year the number of students has increased tremendously. Ms. McGee says one paragraph requires 10 minutes to grade. If a teacher has 120 students, it would take 20 hours to grade them. Mr. Maine feels that there are so many students that he cannot meet individual needs.

In addition, the department decided to have the Juniors and Seniors remain in their first assignment English class until the first semester ends. This is due to the eleventh and twelfth grade levels having had different required standards to meet. Mr. Rudisill believes that there are certain advantages and disadvantages to this standard.

Even with the changes, the English Department was dedicated to helping their students adjust and learn.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

"Hola!", "Bonjour!" and "Guten Tag!". These foreign words are commonly exchanged in the Foreign Language Department between students and teachers each day as a way of saying "hello". However, teachers were noticing that there was an increase in using these expressions. Because of the increase in students, three new teachers were added. These were Ms. Karen Gallahan, who taught both French and Spanish; Ms. Miriam Hill, who replaced Ms. Sylvia Cooke in Advanced Spanish and Ms. Dee Zborrill, who was a part time teacher in French.

Also this year, the Foreign Language Department was in charge of the Student Exchange System for German students.

Science

With the new students coming to North Stafford High, the Science Department was over crowded. Mrs. Simms an Earth Science and Biology teacher, was asked what improvements she was hoping for, she replied, "I would like to see smaller classes. If enrollment increase, we will need another full time teacher. Unlike English and History the Science Department does not have level classes. In Science there are two types of classes: they are General and College Prep. College Prep classes readied students for college whereas the General classes were for students just wanting a general education in science. Whether one planned on attending college, the Science Department could give him a solid background in science.

Working busily on an assignment in Earth Science, Michelle Ethridge glances over her work.

Tammy Piekielek and Cynthia Gaskins discuss a movie.

This years Marine Biology class took a field trip to the Chesapeake Bay to observe and pick out specimens for the science tanks.

John Harris and Bill Rodgers work on their flame test for a lab in Mr. Lontz's chemistry class.

Mrs. Johnson, the Marine Biology teacher, works on their assignment with Kim Dussault and Holly Walker.

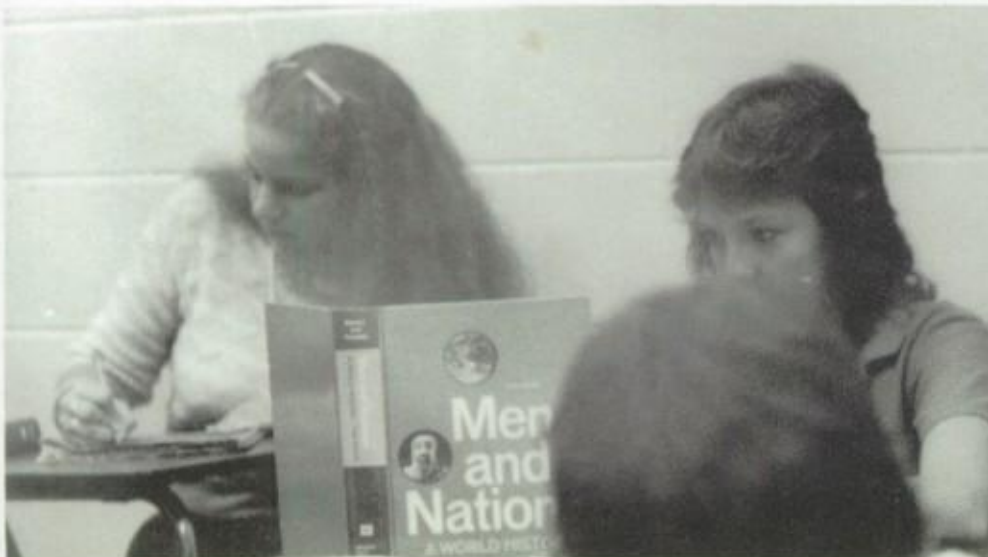

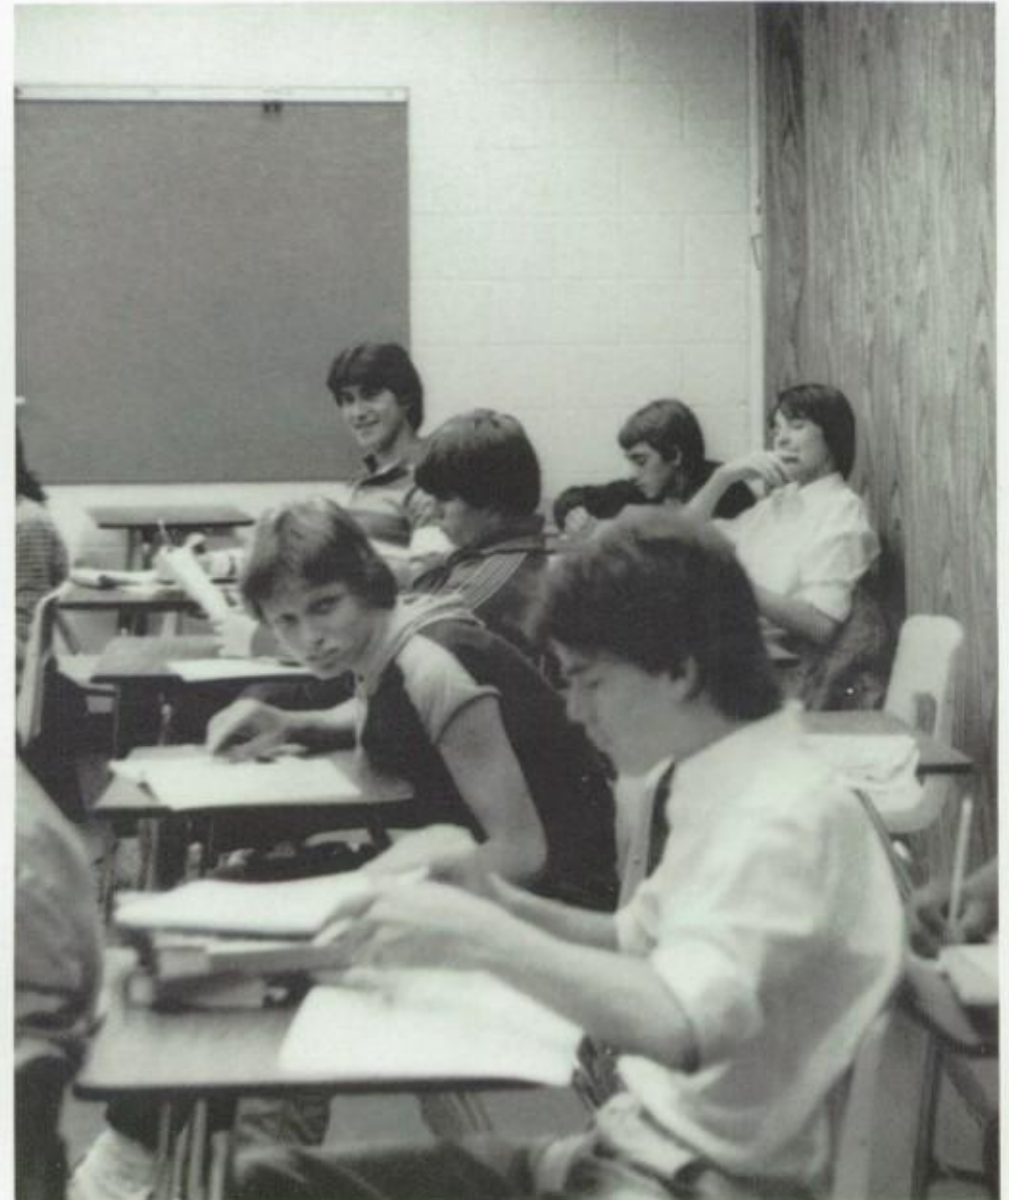

Social Studies

The Social Studies Department is well constructed. The teachers enjoy their jobs. This year the Social Studies Department is grouped as English classes are. By grouping students according to their ability level, the material can be covered quicker and easier—casting fewer burdens on all.

In compliance to our new school board rules, the history teachers give homework if it goes along with what they are studying and if it is needed.

The teachers in this area feel that the grading system is fair it's the students. They believe that an "A" is for excellence and people who deserve it should be the ones to get it. If the system of grading were changed, then students who were playing around or just passing might make good grades. That would be unfair to those who really tried and worked.

Music Department

The Music Department of North Stafford High School is a well organized and well put together activity. Mr. Easy is head of the marching band. The band always performs well at Pep Rallies, Football Games, and competition. The Chorus section is split into two groups, Madgrils and Concert Choir. This is headed by Mrs. Van Buren. The orchestra section is done by Mr. Ross the orchestra also goes to competition and does well. The music section works long and hard and contributed a great deal to North Stafford High School.

Where's the beat?

Aren't we supposed to go down to Mrs. Van Buren?

Now where are we?

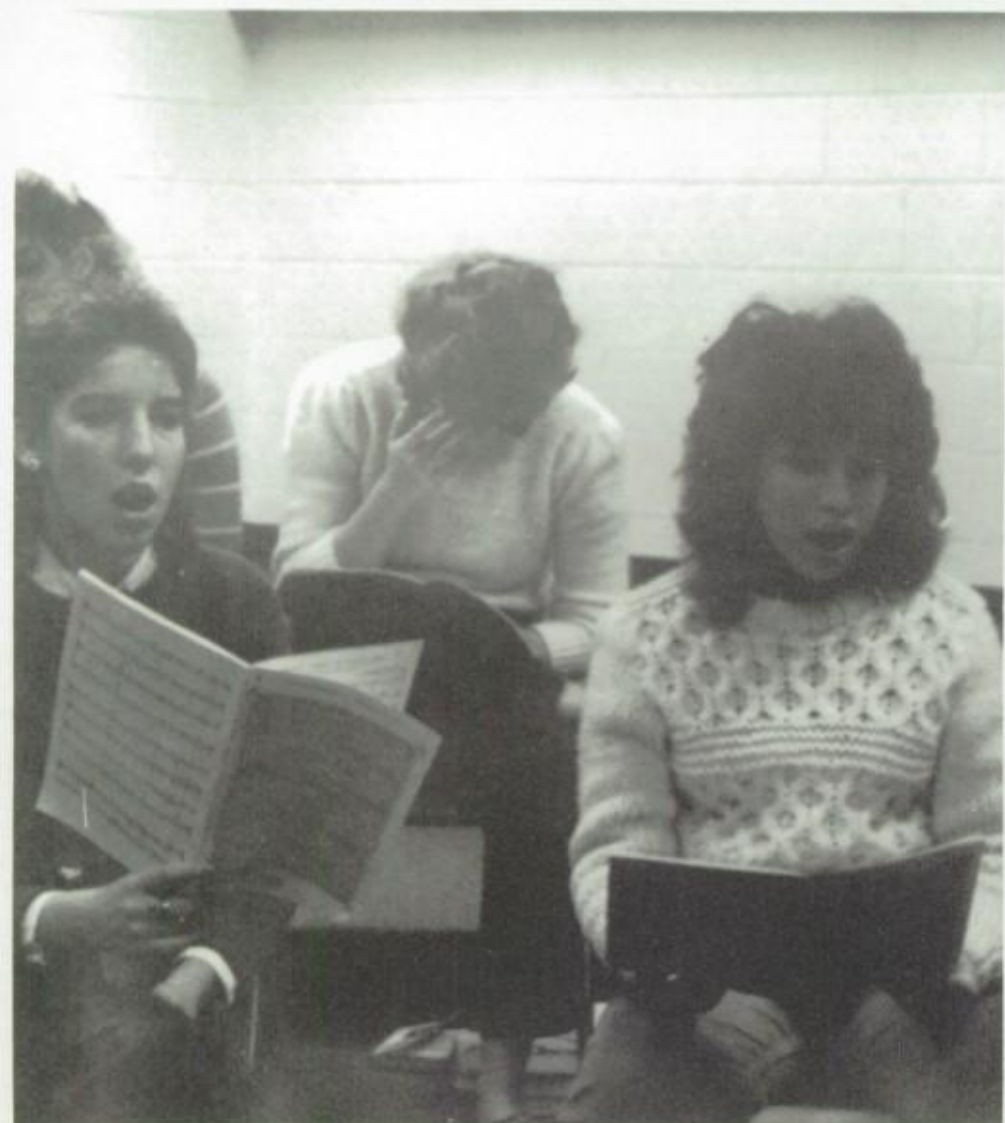

Don't we make beautiful music together.

This is hard work!

Aten Hut!

How much longer do we have?

Star night Star light ...

Sing for joy!

P.E. &

Students here at North Stafford were taken out of tenth grade Physical Education classes for Behind The Wheel Instruction. This was a result of the new graduation standards. The Driver's Education Department and Physical Education Departments have combined so that Drivers Education has once again become a part of the tenth grade Health Curriculum.

Throw it to the cute guy.

This is what they call physical education now?

I could do this all day.

Drivers' Ed.

Some P.E. activities included this year were the following: Basketball, flag football, physical fitness, recreational games, soccer, softball, square dancing and volleyball.

Also a gym class was offered for those who participated in an extra curricular sport activity. this include weightlifting which allowed the athletes to keep their strength up.

Where's reverse?

She's either aiming for me or the basketball.

Is it ever going to end?

I thought we were supposed to be playing volleyball!

Not there, get over here!

Vocational

The vocational classes offered at North Stafford High School have increased in size this year. The students worked very hard and gained much knowledge, which will help them in their future years of employment. This year, many opportunities were offered to North Stafford students. The Horticulture Department reopened its agriculture class, after it had been closed last year.

The Drafting Department's students in Level III completed an in-depth study of architectural drafting. The course objectives were for the students to design and produce a complete set of working drawings of a residential dwelling. Also, the students had an opportunity to make a scaled model of their house design.

Mr. Blazer's Beginning Drafting students intently look over their assignment.

Students from Stafford High have fun playing with the childcare kids.

Mr. Goins and Mr. Bates work busily on a car in Auto Body.

Mr. Vaughn and Neil look over the computer in the Printing Room during class.

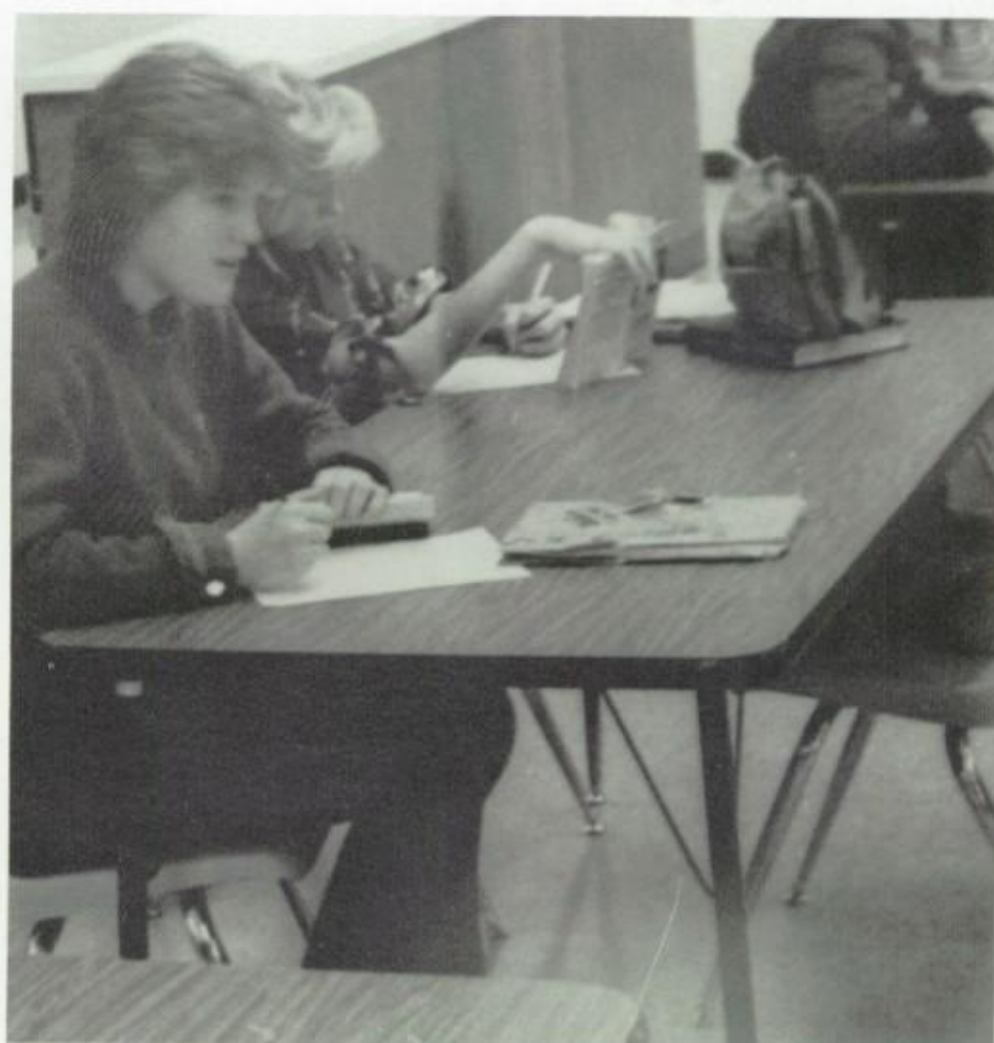

Elmer Cramer and Terry Sanders work on a car stock in Auto Body.

David Parker is working intently on finishing this leg for his rocking chair before the bell.

Getting ready for another incredibly greasy job in Auto Mechanics.

"What did you say? Mrs. Russell you sure you should be teaching nursing?"

Danny Rainey and Albert Kistner work on the walls and roof a shed in Building Trades.

Jennifer Ross and Annette Lafollette have some questions for Mrs. Coates in Home Ec.

Allan Hurry and James Buckland work on the wooden bench in Building trades.

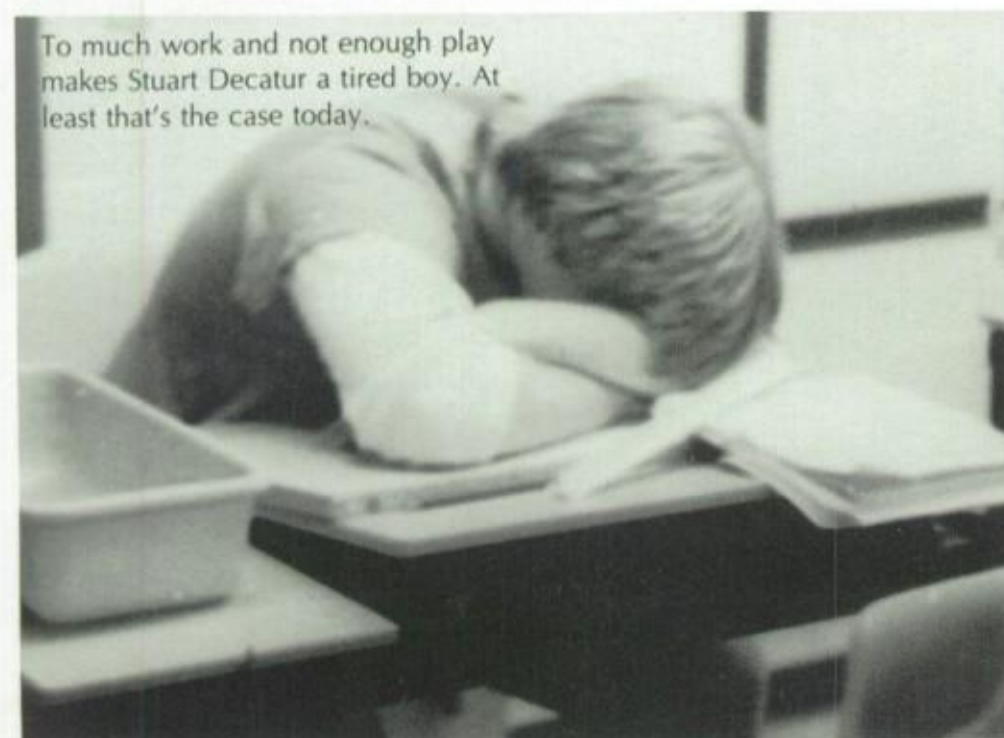

While Mrs. Russell is intent on teaching, one of her nursing students is intent in checking the clock for the bell.

Joe Carosi works busily on his drafting assignment while Rich Orlando decides to lay back and take it easy.

One student along with some of the Child Care kids do their own Version of "Alice In Wonderland."

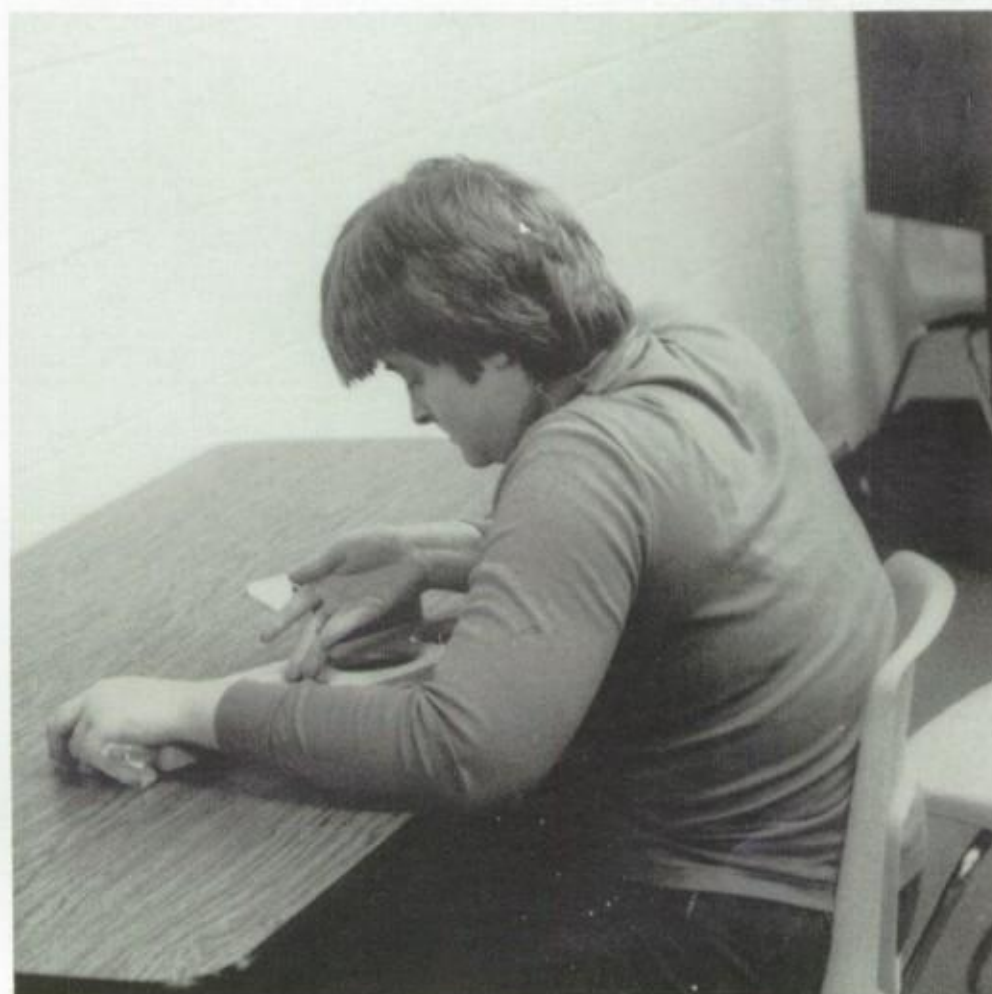

To much work and not enough play makes Stuart Decatur a tired boy. At least that's the case today.

Special Services

The Special Service Department at North Stafford High School, had been set up to meet the needs of certain students. The teachers who work in this area seemed to like teaching alot here also. They became close to students and watched them grow and graduate. These students had an excellent attitude towards learning, and had no behavioral problems. The students were taught survival skills. These were aids to help them cope with day-to-day situations. Some of these skills were telling time, the ability to make change:(money), personal hygiene, cooking, and horticulture were offered. Some of the boys maintenance and repair shop classes. The special services department tried to also prepare the students to go out into regular classes. The teachers in this department deserve credit for the hard work and devotion that they gave.

Business

The business section of North Stafford High School, was well put together. The Business teachers feel that the curriculum changes have good possibilities everything the first year has it's problems. A lot of the double period classes were taken out because of the requirements the students needed for credits. The classes added were Word Processing and more computer classes. None of the business classes are extremely hard, it varies on the ability of the student and the amount of time they are willing to put into there work. As with the other departments homework is only assigned when it goes along with what they are studying in class.

What happened to 35, 36, and 37?
Did I hit the wrong key?

I finally got it right.

Stanley Smith didn't hit the wrong key.

While the rest of the class works, Michelle Lam and Cindy Greeno get in a good laugh.

Vita Bryle, are you writing in that book?

I just know she's going to grade this.

If I go to sleep she'll never know

Let's give a cheer for the North Stafford Cheerleaders! This group of hard working girls did a terrific job cheering on the teams. Even while the score was down, their enthusiasm soared. Their spirit was rewarded at Randolph Macon College where they received a spirit stick representing a superior amount of enthusiasm. They showed great enthusiasm here at all the pep rallies and by helping boost spirit by selling pom pons, spirit links, and Homecoming pins. The cheerleaders did an outstanding job and should be commended!

Suzanne Stepien dazed and confused.

"Come on, get ROWDY!"

Another group of girls with outstanding enthusiasm is the Pom Pon squad. The hours devoted to practice really made these girls shine. As they performed during halftime, they danced their way into everyone's hearts. Over the summer, the squad went to camp at the University of Richmond where they won a spirit pom and an award for consideration by the photographer. One outstanding Pom Pon girl is Sherry Little and should receive our congratulations in winning the title "Superstar Nominee." This group is truly terrific!

In the fall, the Pom Pon Squad planned on performing at the State Basketball Championship.

Varsity

F o o t b a l l

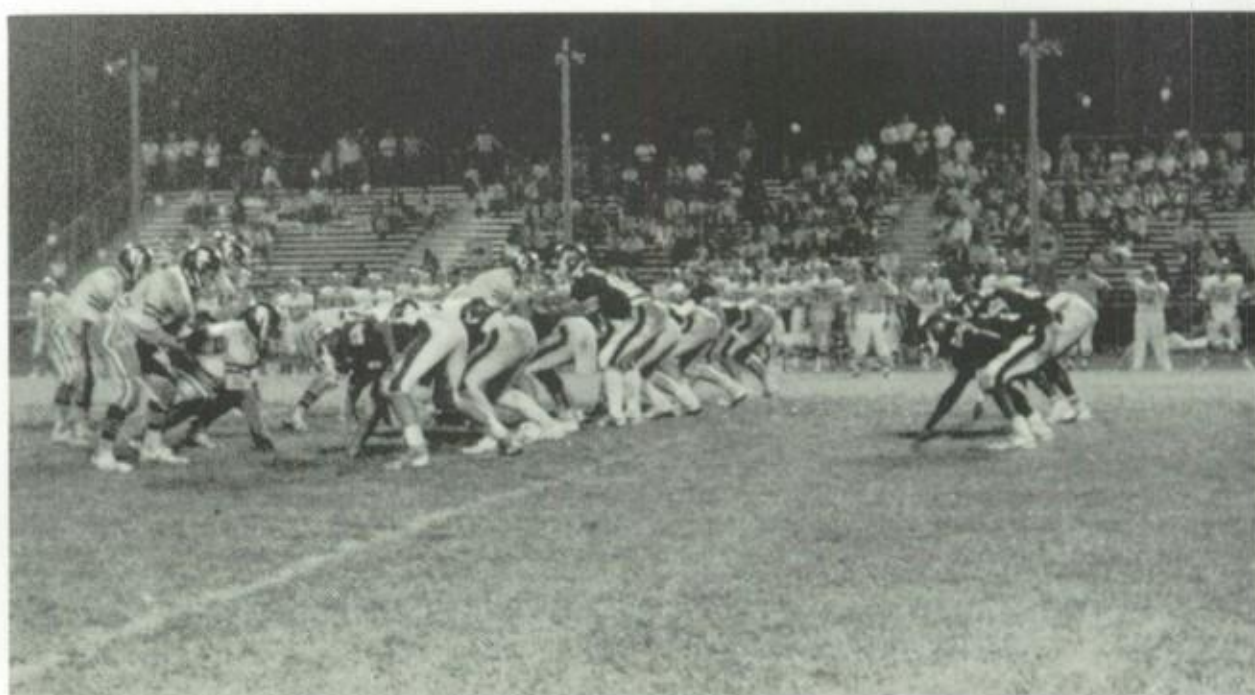

Long, hard, tiring practice over the summer and during the season is what the 1984 varsity football team went through.

They had a good season. The mighty Wolverines Varsity Football Team faced some long and hard games and never gave up.

The Wolverines had lots of fans at home and away for their Friday night games, win or lose the fans were always there to keep them alive with spirit and cheers.

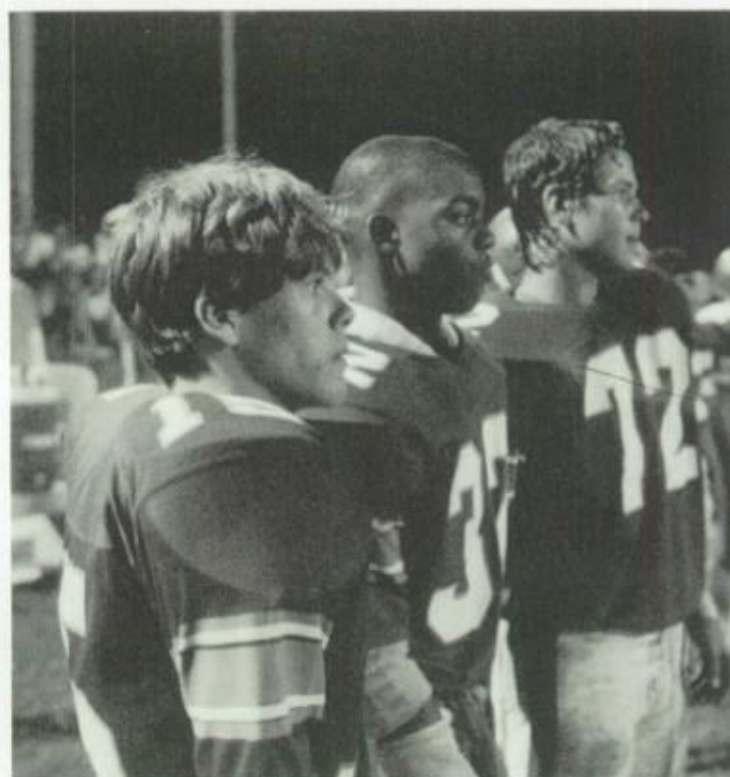

Dixon, Sullivan, Sweet, Berryman were some of the outstanding Wolverines varsity members that gave their best along with all the team members.

The Junior Varsity Football Team had a well played year.

All the time members gave their best and it showed with a winning season they could be proud of.

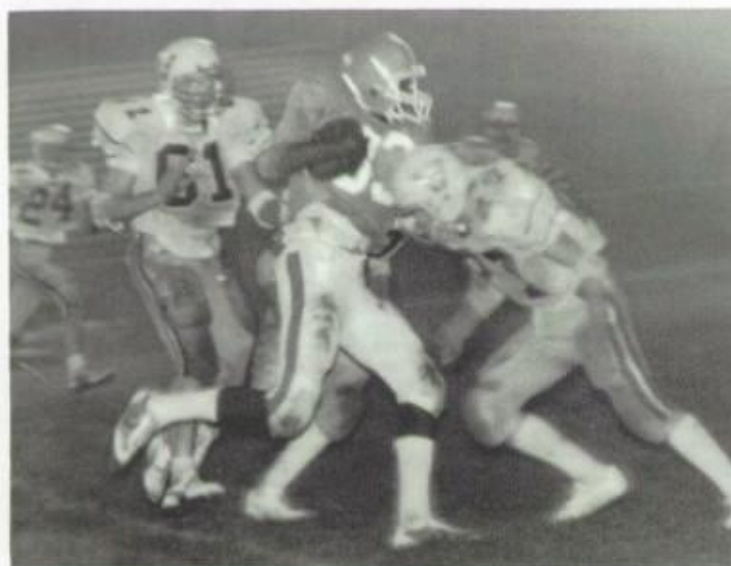

According to a member of the Junior Varsity team, Sean Johnson, the best game played was against Stafford coming out with a victory of course!

Even due to the fact that the mighty Wolverines never had much support at the games they never gave up. The J.V. Team ended up with a great season.

BOYS VARSITY

BASKETBALL

This year our Varsity Basketball team started the season with some painful one or two point losses. But closed the season with great wins over top teams, such as: James-Wood, Stonewall Jackson, Osborn Park, Fauquier and Garfield.

The team this year consisted of three seniors: Mike Klabough, Don Winter and Ron Esser. Seven Juniors: Matt Mullivaln, Kirk Dunmire, James Hoffman, Pat Sweet, Jeff Emerson, Lance Leggitt, and Tyrone Lovitt. And two sophomores: Cassey Lewis and Tim Berryman.

This Wolverine team is a young team and can look forward to an "awesome" season next year as well. We are proud of this team and we wish Coach Trant and the returning players lots of luck next year.

GIRLS VARSITY

BASKETBALL

The girls Varsity Basketball team got off to a bad start. Unfortunately, the team lost six of its first eight games. Even though the team started out poorly, they built themselves up. The team had terrific performances from Kerry Sparks, Rachel Mercer, Yvette Poole, Melody Brown, and many other great players. Along with their coach, David Ripley, and many long hard hours of practice, the team ended the season with an overall score of 6-13, beating Stafford in their last game.

GIRLS J.V.

BASKETBALL

The girls Junior Varsity Team had an overall good season. The coach of the J.V. team was Ms. Lipscomb. Of course the team went through its ups and downs, but the players always came out fighting. The team had good performances from Doreen Marx, Cassey and Christine Dickerson, Dawn Connors, as well as the whole team. Even though the team had some defeats, the sweet taste of victory was also experienced. The best of luck next year.

The Gymnastics Team this year had a fine season. Their more obvious best performance was at the Osbourne Park-Stonewall tri meet. At this meet, three records were broken. Margaret Erving broke the beam score and the floor score. In addition, the team broke their team score. Some of the more outstanding performances were made by Margaret Erving, Lee Hoyle, and Stephanie Hornung, who were the all around gymnastics. Lee Hoyle also commented that this team "worked as a team" and is "like a family".

The Varsity Wrestling Team ended their season sending members of their team to regionals. These members were David Rodriguez (sen. and Cap. of Team), Zane Edwards (sen.), David Turman (sen.) Mike Stivers (jun.), Butch Fisher (jun.), Darin Payne (jun.), Thom Moore (jun.), and David Krisnitski (jun.).

This Wrestling team showed a tremendous amount of spirit and encouraged each other right to the end.

Coach Carr and Mr. Tickle were the new coaches this year for NSHS wrestling.

Together they accomplished a full spirited and well rounded team. Many wrestlers go without meals and the good times at Pizza Hut after the games and ice cream after a movie, just to make their weight class.

J.V. WRESTLING

This years J.V.Wrestling Team had a good season. They won 5 out of 8 matches. Each team member put forth their own individual effort to win their matches. Yet, all together they worked as a full team.

An outstanding performance was done by Eric Major, who moved up on the Varsity team to wrestle in several matches.

As each year progresses, the team puts forth more effort to increase their talent. Coach Carr led them to an overall good season and has high hopes that next year many of these boys will have an excellent season on varsity.

Student Council Organization

The SCA is the essence of North Stafford High Schools student body. This is true because the students voted all the members to their positions. In the spring of each year students of our school vote for the people we want to lead us for the next year. The elected officers then try to live up to their campaign promises. Many of our school functions are sponsored by the SCA, such as Homecoming.

The SCA cabinet consists of: James Moulton; James Hoffman, Vice President; Angela Hanson, Secretary; Rebecca Sterne, Treasurer; and Todd Hodges, Publication Coordinator.

At the Homecoming Dance couples take time to get closer.

Pep Club

The Pep Club is the spirited-oriented club of North Stafford High School. They raised money for activities such as Homecoming, Pep Rallies, Games, and Dances. In addition to this, they supplied spirit at home games, and helped fire up our teams while on the road. The Pep Club sponsored a spirit bus which was available for all students interested in going to away games. This spirit bus made it possible for many more North Stafford students to attend away games. This support was truly a vital component of our team's victories.

The 1984-85 club officers were the following: Jeff Wheeler, President; Stacey Connolly, Vice-President; Sherri Studder, Secretary; Janine Jennings, Treasurer. The Pep-Club sponsor was Mrs. Torosian.

K. Bailey, B. Bernard, S. Braxton, D. Bridges, J. Brindle, A. Bush, E. Flowers, M. Fredrick, S. Fruncheck, A. Glace, S. Hodge, G. House, K. Jones, K. Kruse, Krystal L., H. Lynch, E. McCool, V. Jenine Jennings masquerades as a wolverine.

Students help to fire up our sports squads.

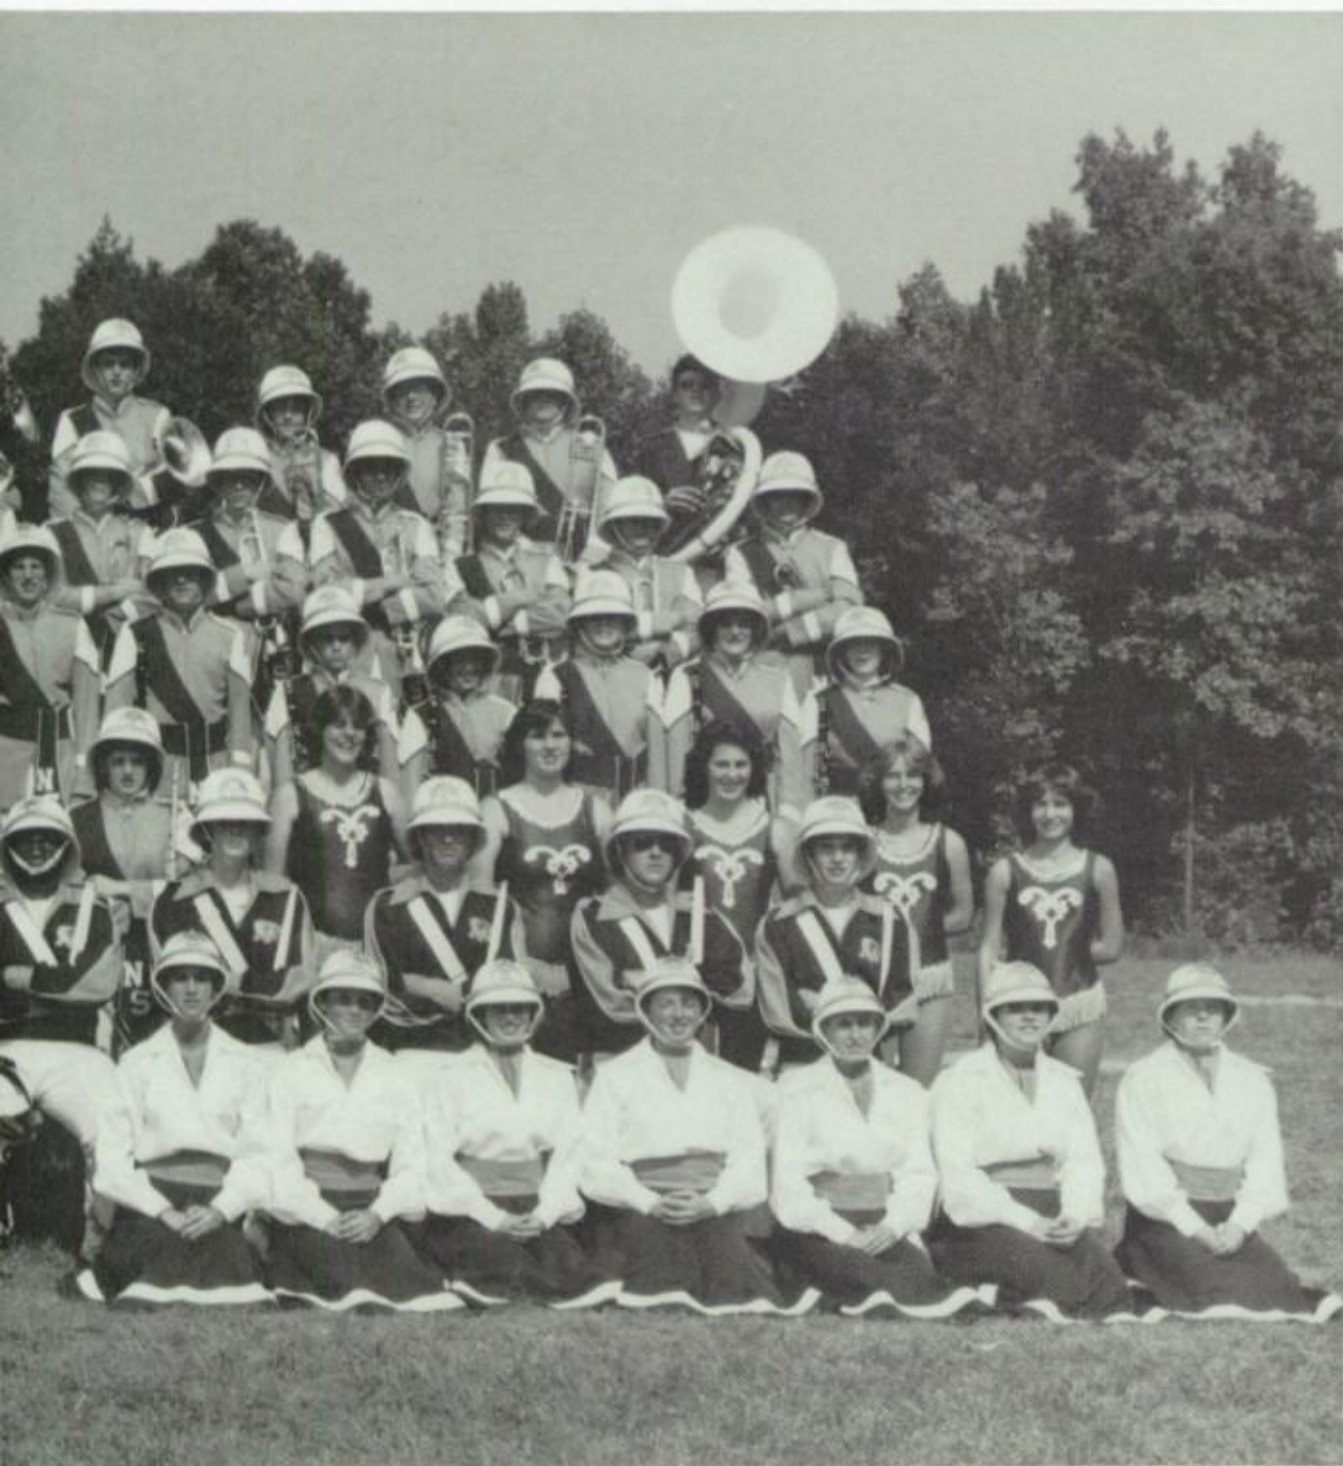

Band

The Marching Wolverines were composed of advanced, intermediate, and beginning band members. These students went through strenuous tryouts, judged by Mr. Easley, to wear the orange, blue, and white of North Stafford.

The band performed at pep rallies, football games, parades, and various community activities.

There were three drum majors this past year: Cam Geiger, Buck Olerich, and Teddy Schilling.

Madrigals

Madrigals did a great deal of performing throughout the school year, both at school functions and at community functions. In the Fall, they were scheduled to perform at Spotsylvania Mall, the Fredericksburg Christmas Candle Light Tour, the Library Open House (610 Branch), and the Annual NSHS Christmas Concert. Also, they combined Forces with the Stafford High Madrigals, and traveled to Charlottesville and Richmond for Honors Choir end Regional Choir auditions.

The Madrigals raised money for new uniforms by singing telegrams.

The Madrigals' officers were: Yvette Nageotte, President; Dawn Presti, and Mary Seymour, assistants; Paul Furman, Treasurer; and Mrs. Van Buren, sponsor.

Orchestra

For the students who wanted to master the techniques of a stringed instrument, orchestra was their answer. This year was no exception with their annual Christmas and Spring concerts. A special event for Orchestra happened when the school played host to the 1985 All-State Orchestra competition. Mrs. Ross also hoped to send at least seven to eight members to Orchestra Regionals.

The 1984-85 club officers were the following: Elisabeth Flowers, President; Helene Simpson, Secretary; Cordell Richards, Reporter. The Orchestra sponsor was Mrs. Ross.

History Club

The History club was open to all students interested in learning more about local and international events. The club was divided into specialized interest groups such as; table-top war games, model building, a dramatic group plus sponsored events. The Foreign military officers trip from Quantico was sponsored by the club. The Speakers were then invited to discuss their field of expertise with the History students.

The History Club officers were the following: Doug Feiring, Coordinator; Steve Faulk, Secretary; Mark Carico, Treasurer; and Mrs. Charlotte Butler, sponsor.

Math League

For people interested in mathematics and/or computers the Math League was their answer. The club owned their computer this year which could have been taken home by the members. This privilege was only available to students in good standing.

The Math League took a series of six tests given throughout the year. Also they took place in the annual Germanna Community College Math Test. In this test the members competed with other schools in the state.

The club officers were: Mark Carico, President; Josh Duke, Vice President; Sheri Patterson, Secretary/Treasurer, with Vickie Inge as the Math League Sponsor.

German Club

The German Club offered interested students a chance to learn more about Germany as a nation. The club members went on an annual trip to Busch Gardens, and to a German restaurant. They also held their own Christmas Party and a spring picnic. The members also paid for some of the trips that the German Exchange students took, both last year and this year. Many members hosted the students in their homes. Several of our students went to Berlin and West Germany for three weeks this summer.

The 1984-85 club officers were: Jerry Stearlings, President; Brian Stengal, Vice-President; Michele Ozols, Secretary/Treasurer. Their club sponsor was Mrs. Judy Warner.

Latin Club

The Latin Club is an organization for students enrolled in a Latin course. The club gives opportunities to compete against students from other schools. The club had certain teams which participated in contests similar to the "Battle of the Brains." Also, those who join the National Junior Classical League may take the National Latin Exam at the end of the year and/or go to the convention at Roanoke on October 20 and 21. The years activities were culminated with a picnic at the end of the year.

The club officers were: Mark Carico, President; Chris Walsh, Vice President; Erin Duffy, Treasurer; Michael Kelsen, Secretary; and the sponsor was Mrs. Margaret Pomfrey.

Spanish Club

The Spanish Club gave students a better chance to learn the heritage of their second language. The club's main purpose was to learn more about the people who speak Spanish. This involved such things as going to the Spanish restaurant Chi Chi's. Some of the club members participated in the National Language Tests. The club's year was culminated with an International dinner.

The 1985-86 club officers were the following: Bryan Dennis, President; David Rodriguez, Vice President; Jackie Randal, Treasurer; Buffy Shrieve, Secretary; and Gail Giedzinski, Reporter. The club sponsors were: Roselle Blackburn, Miriam Hill, and Karen Gallaham.

French Club

The French Club had a long list of activities this year. They built a float for Homecoming, and then entered a team in the Homecoming Olympics. The French Club, along with the rest of the language clubs, participated in the International dinner. For their money making project the club sold carnations during the Valentine season last year.

The 1984-85 club officers were the following: Mike Klabough, President; Mary Fordham, Vice-President; Jackie Berry, Secretary/Treasurer. The Club sponsors were Miss. Giovannetti and Miss. Gallahan.

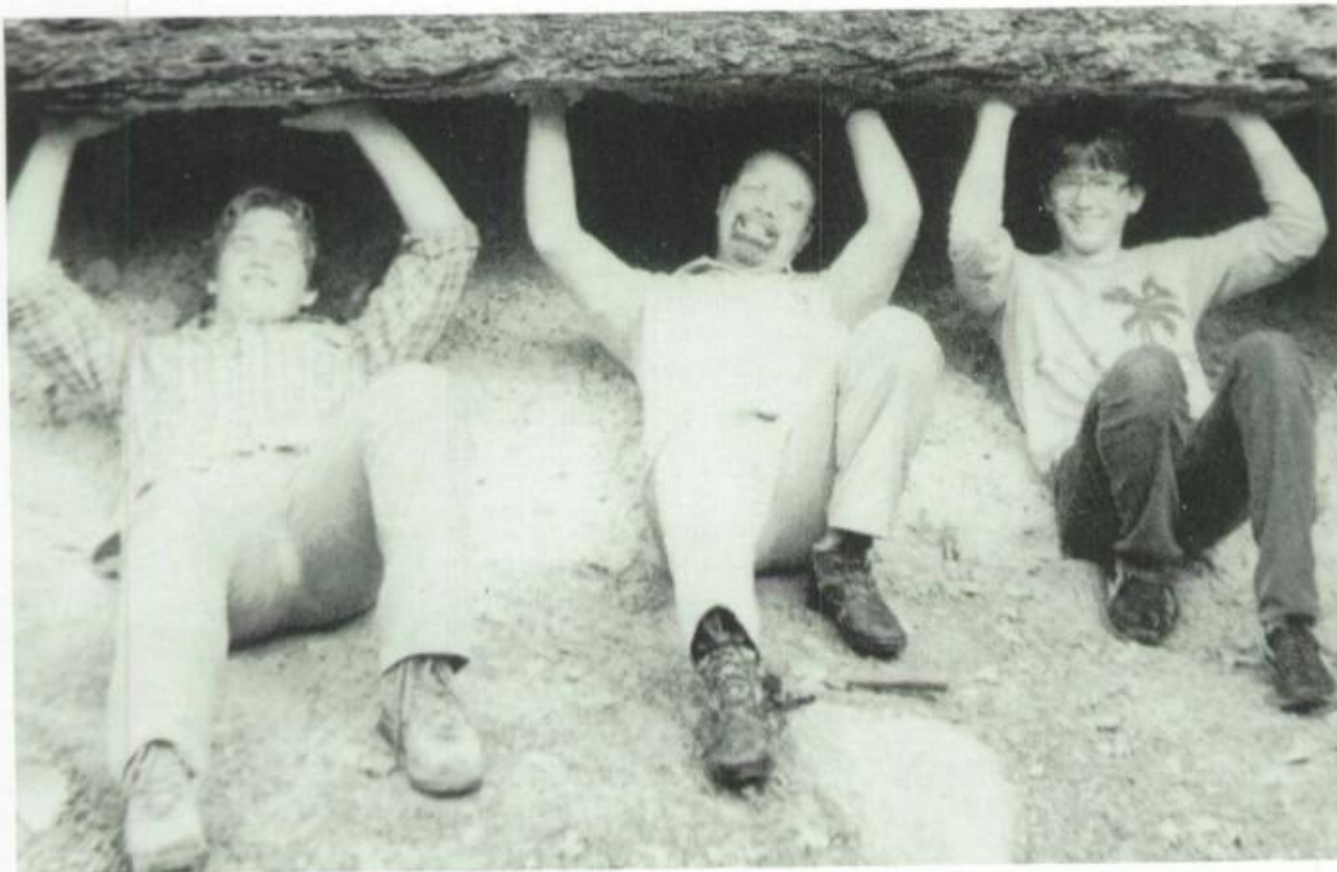

Science Club

The science club is an active club. Some of their activities included hiking, caving, and canoeing. They also had indoor activities such as ham radio communications, glass blowing, rock cutting and polishing, and visitation of science related establishments. The club did not require enrollment in a science course, all one needed to have was an interest and curiosity.

The 1984-85 club officers were: Chris Edwards, President; James Chiarilli, Vice President; Jackie Berry, Secretary; Daniel Miles, Treasurer. The club sponsors were Mr. Lontz and Mr. McCloud.

North Star

The North Star was our school's feature magazine. The staff consisted of level 1 and 2 English students. These students under the direction of Mrs. Darrough did many things including: dig up ideas, organize the five yearly issues, do interviews and reports, arrange the page layouts, take photographs, draw up artwork, and sell the magazines to students.

The Editor-in-Chief was Sandi Shutt. North Star sponsor was Mrs. Karen Darrough.

Lit. Mag.

The Literary Magazine is a nonprofit organization. Their only funding comes from the sale of concessions during intermission of the drama department, a car wash during the summer, and through the patronage.

The sole purpose of the group is to produce the North Wind which contains all forms of literature. Included are poems, plays, drawings, photographs, short stories essays or any other type of literature written by the students. The magazine also rewards students who have submitted outstanding pieces with cash or prizes. Unfortunately, last year, there were not enough submissions to produce a North Wind.

Yearbook is a regular class and a credit is given for it. The yearbook students are divided into many sections. Some of these are writing copy, drawing layouts, using artistic talents, selling yearbooks, working with photography and/or developing pictures. During the year much is learned in all of these areas. Perhaps the most vital lesson learned is responsibility to do one's part on time and how to work well together regardless.

The FBLA (Future Business Leaders of America) is a co-curricular club, and one must be a business student to join. The club stayed very active throughout the year. One of the ways they raised money was by the Tom Watt sales. This club also sponsored the Sadie Hawkins dance, and the Miss North Stafford Pageant. The club also helped the community in many ways such as giving away Thanksgiving turkeys, and providing the nursing home with gifts.

The FBLA club officers were the following: Denise Griffis, President; Kelly Clark, Vice President; Lori Mullins, Secretary; Eileen Serafin, Treasurer; Leslie Kearns, Historian; and Tracie McWhirt, Parliamentarian. Mrs. Lyn Mills was the FBLA Sponsor.

Key Club

The Key Club was active during the 1984-85 school year. They sponsored their annual blood mobile drive in November and again in February. For Halloween they visited a nursing home, and also sponsored a YMCA dance for the mentally handicapped. Other planned activities were a car wash in October, a raffle in January, a dance in February, and a tubing trip/picnic in the Spring.

The Key Club officers were the following: Jack Berry, President; Melanie Chaplin, Vice President; Cindy Herndon, Treasurer; Cindy Green, Secretary. The club sponsor was Mr. Rudisill.

Drama is both a class and a club activity. The purpose of the group is to give students the opportunity to exercise their particular dramatical talents. Usually the first play is a Shakespearian, but this year, the department performed Molier's Scandal. A fairy tale production in the winter, and another production in the spring. Mr. Franklin also takes interested students to see various plays being staged in Washington, D.C. The sponsor was Mr. Franklin.

The Ham Radio Club calls into North Stafford.

Just started this year, the Ham Radio Club is made up of students and one faculty member who passed (or soon will) a F.C.C. exam consisting of Morse code, radio, and electronic theory. By the end of the year members hope to have a station set up in the school thus enabling them to communicate with the world of ham radio.

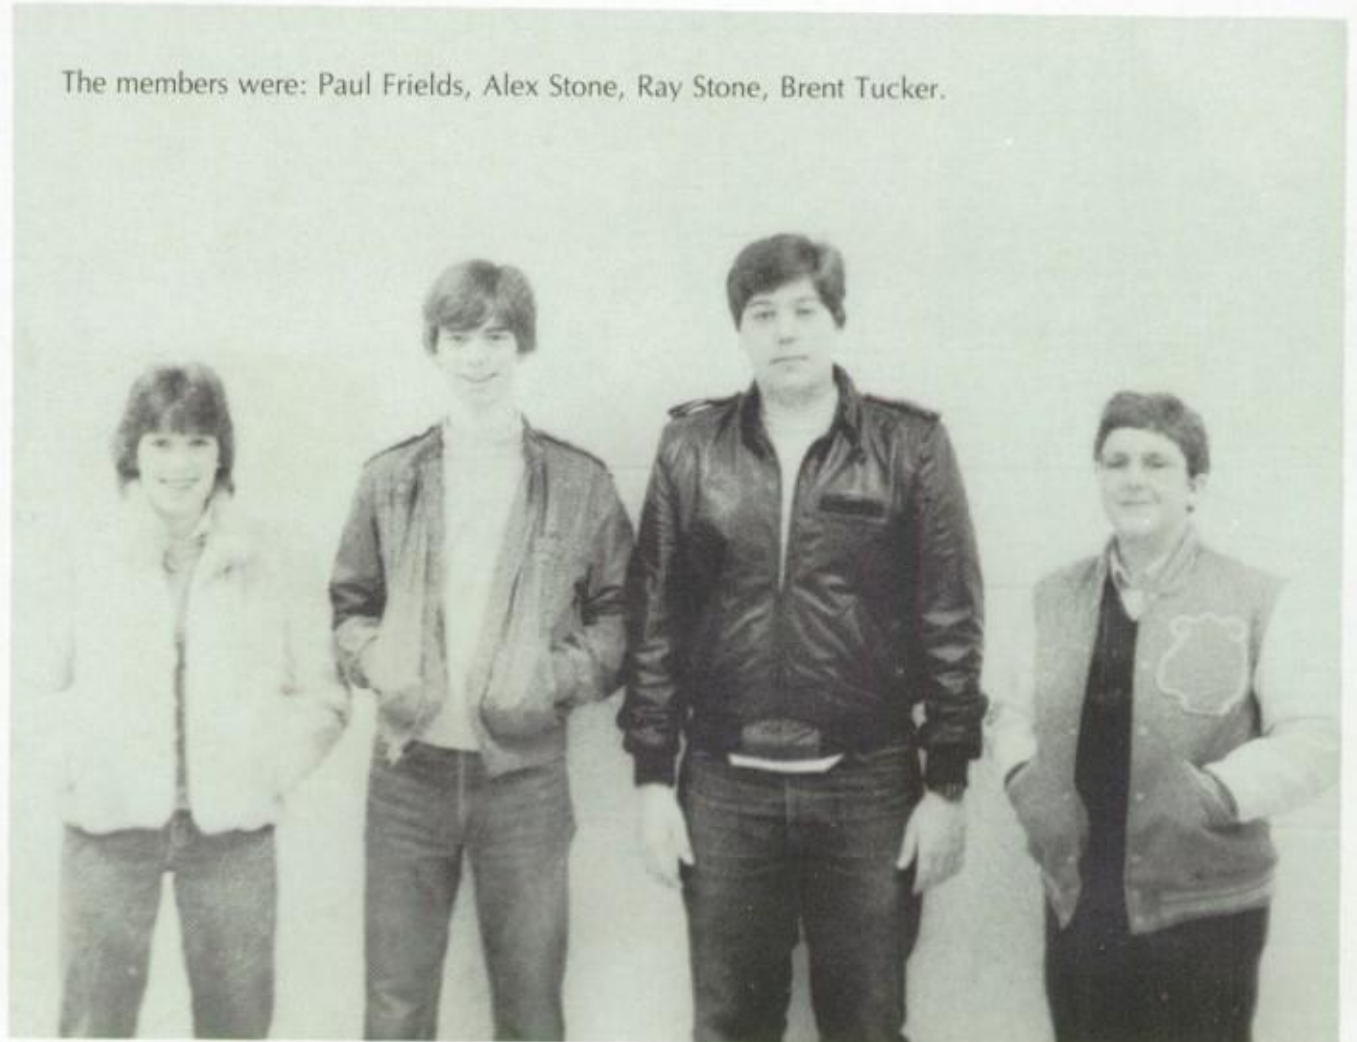

The club members included: Mac McNeil, Doug Willford, Todd Lewis, Mike Kiwiatkowski, Daniel Miles, Chris Suleske, and Mr. McCloud as the sponsor.

Young Republicans help Ronald Reagan win.

A group of young people who firmly believe in the Republican Party have bonded together to form Young Republicans. The main objective of this group is to see that as many Republican candidates as possible are elected to office. As well as help their party, they gain a further understanding of our government. This involvement in our government is what has made our nation strong, may it continue.

The members were: Paul Fields, Alex Stone, Ray Stone, Brent Tucker.

SADD

Students Against Drunk Driving is a service organization that was formed to promote school and community awareness about the dangers of drinking and driving. Any student could join. The group sponsored a community Halloween party in October. They also sponsored "a contract for life" agreement. This year the students hope to go the middle school to make the student aware of the problems of drinking and driving. We also plan to work on forming a parent-student group to deal with the problem.
